Naval officer’s baton

OBJECTS. BATONS

England

19th century

Ivory, tortoiseshell, silver

83.5 cm

COD · 07-02-001

DESCRIPTION

A very rare English naval officer’s cane, made entirely of ivory sections separated by fine tortoiseshell rings; the number of rings determines the officer’s rank. A ferrule and a cap, both of silver, enclose the handle. The cap is decorated with a small hand-painted daisy.
